

Re-Imagining in Boulder, Colorado

Our feature home, built in 1960 and first remodeled in 2008, has been re-imagined to take advantage of unobstructed mountain views and a desire to increase the livability of the space.

"We bought the home for its location, and with this remodel, we were finally able to realize a floor plan and layout for the way we live. The doors are a focal point of our interior and really enhance our feeling of modern living."

TM9420 in Select Alder with White Lami Glass

The owners wanted the interior doors to be an integral part of the new look, so they pulled from TruStile's Tru&Modern™ Collection. The door collection offers clean, strong lines, custom design options, and bold accents.

With over 70 modern door styles, each unique yet complementary, different styles can easily be combined across a door package. Many styles are designed to incorporate material inserts such as glass, leather and metal to further enhance the contemporary look.

TM9420 in Select Alder with White Lami Glass

In spaces frequented by guests, the doors are made of Select Alder with an Espresso finish — a dark stain popular in today's modern trend. To further stretch their budget, paint-grade MDF is used in more private areas such as the bathrooms and closets of the bedrooms.

A stacked rail TM9000 with a ¼" kerf cut reveal was selected as the core door design. Accent doors of different styles were then selected to showcase prominent openings: a pair of TM6100 barn doors create privacy for the home office and the TM9420 adds a unique design element to the open-concept kitchen and living room. Both styles use White Lami glass inserts to diffuse the strong Colorado sun and brighten the room.

In the master suite, a full-length mirror was added to the back of a TM9000 pocket door that leads to the bathroom. A new style was introduced, the TS5000 with White Lami glass, to add privacy and bring light into the water closet.

Much of TruStile's product offering is available with 20- to 90-minute fire ratings, including the TM9000. To maintain the modern look throughout the home, they used a 20-minute rated house-to-garage TM9000 in MDF.

TruStile makes it easy to combine the right details, right features, and right materials to create a unique interior door package that differentiates your custom home or remodel.
